In literary and historical analysis, presentism is the anachronistic introduction of present-day ideas and perspectives into depictions or interpretations of the past. Some modern historians seek to avoid presentism in their work because they consider it a form of cultural bias, and believe it creates a distorted understanding of their subject matter.

Literary theory in a strict sense is the systematic study of the nature of literature and of the methods for analyzing literature. However, literary scholarship since the 19th century often includesâ€”in addition to, or even instead of literary theory in the strict senseâ€”considerations of intellectual history, moral philosophy, social prophecy, and other interdisciplinary themes which are of ...
