In classical mechanics, the Euler force is the fictitious tangential force that is felt in reaction to any angular acceleration. That reactive acceleration is the Euler acceleration (named for Leonhard Euler), also known as azimuthal acceleration or transverse acceleration. It is an acceleration that appears when a non-uniformly rotating reference frame is used for analysis of motion and there ...

Obviously, a rotating frame of reference is a case of a non-inertial frame. Thus the particle in addition to the real force is acted upon by a fictitious force...The particle will move according to Newton's second law of motion if the total force acting on it is taken as the sum of the real and fictitious forces.
